OVERPAYMENT OF PENSIONS

Ottawa, Feb. 12.—Overpayment of $912,228 in war pensions is revealed in the report of Auditor-General Comptroller for the fiscal year ended last March 31. The report, tabled this week in the House of Commons, shows Canada's total net expenditures on account of war and militia pensions during the fiscal year ended March 31, 1934, were $41,789,871, compared with $42,097,620 for the fiscal year 1933-34.

Active pensioners' accounts were in operation last March 31, including 18,326 dependents in receipt of pensions, compared with 18,713, including 19,266 dependents on March 31, 1933, the report states.

"The examination of 8,186 pensioners' files by this office during the year," the Auditor-General declares, "revealed over-payments amounting to $912,228, of which $6,796 only is being recovered, the balance of $905,432, representing chiefly overpayments caused by errors in calculation, having been waived by the pension commissioners.

"Overpayments disclosed since inception of the audit of these accounts amounted to $804,658, of which approximately $60,000 is recoverable. The saving to the treasury due to recoveries and reductions in awards amounted to over $150,000, and future annual savings will exceed $100,000. Underpayments amounting to $17,598 were also discovered during the same period."

HAS PRAISE FOR HELMETS

Seattle Speaker Says Police
Duty by Wearing "Fanny

"The policemen of Victoria may feel they are doing a real civic duty in wearing these 'fanny' hats," stated James F. Pollard of Seattle in speaking to the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau and the Kiwanis Club at luncheon yesterday at the Empress Hotel.

"There was a real feeling of regret a few years ago among Americans when the helmets were done away with," Mr. Pollard continued. "It was a very fine move on the part of the city officials when they required the policemen to return to the helmets. While the policemen may not like them they may feel they are doing a real civic duty. When you come up here and see those helmets on the streets you say to yourself, 'We are in a real foreign country!'"

Mr. Pollard said there had been much talk about the condition of the roads on Vancouver Island.

"Your roads may be like your helmets. When we come here we may feel we are on an English lane. But it would be better if the roads were improved," Mr. Pollard said.

In moving the vote of thanks, Mayor Leckie assured Mr. Pollard that the policemen of Victoria changed from caps to helmets of their own free will. He also stressed the fact that the helmet weighed less than the cap.

Mrs. Frank Jones, Invermere, Mrs. Arthur Owen, Kenora, Ont., Mrs. Stuart O. Kenning, Victoria, and Miss Gladys Pitts Windermere, are daughters. Florence Pitts of Weyburn, Sask., is a sister, and Mrs. Frank Pitts, Port Alberni, B.C., and H. H. Pitts, Nelson, are brothers.

LIBRARIES ARE BEING STARVED

Book Publisher Says New Books Vitrally Needed
To-day

"One of the most deplorable features of the depression years in Canada has been the way public libraries and school libraries have been starved, just at a time when they have never been needed more," said A. B. Watson, of Toronto, Canadian manager of Thomas Nelson & Sons Limited, international book publishing house, who is at the Empress Hotel yesterday.

"With large numbers of people out of work, depressed and harassed, it is just the time when books are of real value to them. For them, through books, new worlds, fresh vistas are opened.

"On my trip across the country and contact with conditions in various cities, I found that people are relying upon the libraries to supply them with reading and what it means in a way they never did before. Every public library I have been in on my way across Canada to Victoria I have found thronged with people."

Mr. Watson declared that books supplied through voluntary agencies to homes on the prairies when the government agencies had been crippled in their supply of books through lack of funds, had saved thousands of persons, worried and lonely, from going mad.

"Public libraries are cheaper than lunatic asylums," Mr. Watson went on. "Books for the isolated and impoverished people in the distressed areas of the prairies are just as necessary for the mental health of the people as food and clothing are for their material welfare."

Mr. Watson said that new, improved series of Canadian readers which his firm had introduced into the public schools in various provinces were making a good impression.

B.C. Needs Better Trading Privileges

Stanley S. McKen Submits Strong Case to Legislature For Revision of Provincial Rights; Advocates New Trade Department

The governmental chaos which the present B.C. administration found when it took office had been definitely cured and had given place to activity, hope, and a definite plan to a way out, declared Stanley S. McKen, M.P., for Vancouver-Point Grey, at his opening of the debate in the Legislature this afternoon on the address in reply to the speech from the Throne.

Not only had the government dealt with the emergency problems in sound fashion, but it had tackled the fundamental problems with determination and was driving toward a solution of them.

Mr. McKen thoroughly supported the view that British Columbia's chief needs were a revision of jurisdiction under the British North America Act, a sound credit policy and a wide trade expansion through reciprocal agreements, and a new deal on tariffs within Canada.

"We are suffering from the maldistribution of government responsibility," he said with reference to the B.N.A. Act. "The limitations set by the act do not serve well in today's circumstances."

"British Columbia as she now stands must shoulder heavy burdens for which she must pay, but is deprived from the means of raising the taxation for them."

The present fiscal policy of the government, to restore credit so that refunding could go ahead on a sound basis, drew favorable comment from the speaker.

"The finance minister realizes," he said, "that only by honor may credit be maintained and that only by proper economies may expenditures be brought within reach of income, and that without such efforts the outlook is hopeless. British Columbia needs a shrewd, honest practical financier at the helm of her finances and she is fortunate to have one."

"In these days of wild theories of public finance, and of public speeches in which the lender is held up to contempt as a usurer and as a species of semi-criminal and the borrower as a much-abused and virtuous individual let us forget that we borrowed the money of our own free will and spent it on our purposes and we will want to borrow again in the future."

NEW DEAL IN TRADE

Mr. McKen submitted a lengthy case for a "new deal" in the way of trading privileges for the province, citing first the figures prepared by the Economic Council showing that B.C. buys $101,000,000 from eastern Canada and sells only $4,500,000 to the east, he argued that B.C. is more valuable to the rest of Canada than the rest of Canada is to her.

"When you add to this the fact that we pay far more in taxes to the federal treasury than we get out of it, the case is still worse. This basic fact must be borne well in mind in placing before the Dominion our demands for better terms."

"If we were differently situated and in a position to make our own trade treaties we could use the $100,000,000 of purchasing power now sent to eastern Canada towards getting a greater portion of the trade in those countries in which we could spend this money," he said.

"In our present set up it seems impossible for us to do this. We at least should have some favorable consideration from the federal authorities in the making of their trade agreements, and I would advocate that they more fully develop the policy of reciprocal trade agreements with other countries."

The government should continue to press this situation when asking for better terms from Ottawa, he said.

"Were it not for the vast natural resources of the forest, mine and sea I do not believe it would have been possible for British Columbia to have survived the last few years."

While the provincial government was helping to remedy this situation, such as in financially assisting lumber trade delegation, Mr. McKen suggested it should go further and set up a Department of Trade to study the entire question.

This department, he urged, could have the task of ascertaining in what measure co-operation was desirable with the Dominion in the matter, and could take such steps as were necessary to foster, assist and develop further overseas trade. They could produce not new made or produced in the province might well be produced here for shipment abroad and thus increase employment.

He made reference in this connection to the success of the South African lumber delegation. Two cases of discrimination in freight rates against B.C. lumber going to South Africa had been rectified as a result.

Mr. McKen urged an immediate revision of the tax imposed on diesel oil used by ships. In Great Britain, he argued, the fuel oil tax was heavier than in British Columbia but shipping was totally exempt.

At the present time the tax was working a great hardship on coast-wise shipping and the towboat industry as fuel oil constituted a third of their operation costs.

In conclusion Mr. McKen commended the government for its work in advancing the state health insurance case, its operation of the Natural Products Marketing Act, investigations in the field of educational finance, and laid particular stress upon the value of the hours of work and minimum wage legislation brought down last year.

TELLS SCOTS ABOUT ART

Donald S. Cameron Lectures to Members of the Victoria Burns Club

Another "gold mine" was had by the Victoria Burns Club when, despite the gales which blew out doors, they gathered in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium to hear an address on the "Influence of Art" by Donald S. Cameron, and to enjoy a programme of entertainment yesterday.

The evening was ushered in with the customary skit on the bagpipes by Pipe-Major Donald Cameron, Mrs. W. A. Jamieson got the audience "warmed up" with some community singing. The members arose and with gusto roared out the Scottish war cry, "Scots wa' ha' Wallace Bleed," and after seating themselves in a quieter mood, they sang the old favorite, "Annie Laurie."

The speaker of the evening, Mr. Cameron, whom the president, W. A. Jamieson, pointed out was not to be confused with Pipe-Major Cameron, signed the impressions and influence art had on the people of the world.

In Scotland, he noted, there was a society which bought famous masterpieces and presented them to the art galleries of Great Britain. A short time ago, this society paid $45,000 for a picture by Velasquez, the famous "Milkmaid." The speaker noted how highly some people thought of art and its effect on the national life.

NATIONAL GALLERY

"A picture in a national gallery does not belong to the national gallery, it belongs to everyone," the speaker declared.

The word art, Mr. Cameron defined as the perfection of a system of self-expression. Art was by no means a narrow subject. There was industrial art, commercial art and decorative art, he said.

Fine art did not mean the copying of nature, that was why photography could never really be classified as art. It was too mechanical. Fine art was a spiritual inspiration.

The speaker traced the history of art. The first examples were found in the caverns of Spain. They were discovered by a little girl while at play. These drawings were made by Paleolithic men, some eight thousand years before Christ. These ancient sketches usually represented animals of that day.

In the excavations of the palace of Knossos in Crete some wonderful art was discovered. Artists' implements and cosmetics were even uncovered in this relic of the past which was some four thousand years old. The decorations in the palace were of very high calibre, including geometrical designs.

A great deal of art was lavished on the dead, Mr. Cameron noted. Decorated implements were found in Stone Age graves, the tombs of the Pharaohs were splendidly adorned.

FIRST SCHOOL

The first school of art was opened in Alexandria, Egypt, about 300 B.C. From Egypt, art spread to Greece and to Italy. Greece had the honor of developing sculpture.

The Renaissance, the speaker said, covered a wide period. It was brought to a head by the capture of Constantinople by the Moslems. The intellectuals moved to Italy and there was a new birth of art.

The paper was aware of the influence of art on the people, Mr. Cameron affirmed. An example of this was the fact that many artists worked for the church in this art revival period. It was in this time that Michelangelo was writing some of his masterpieces.

Music and poetry, the speaker said, were correlated. He referred to Robert Burns, the immortal poet of Scotland, as one of the greatest masters. Mr. Cameron touched briefly on commercial art, and showed pieces of pottery which had been designed and made in Victoria. The commercial artist was to be found everywhere and the world was a huge playground for him.

TO-TO PLAY

During his lecture Mr. Cameron introduced Harvey Lowe, Chairman of the Burns Club, who gave a demonstration with the yo-yo. Young Lowe had traveled all over the world showing his tricks with the yo-yo, and had never been beaten.

Before the lecture, Mr. Whyte, the secretary, referred to the annual dinner which was held in the Burns Room. It was an outstanding success, he said, and the function. He also read a letter from the Jubilee Hospital, thanking the club for the money received for the cot which it had at that institution.

The programme included some very fine vocal solos by Mrs. Wallace Gunn, she delighted the audience with her lovely soprano voice. The two numbers which she sang were "Jesus's Dream" and "Garden Rose." She was accompanied by Miss J. Smith.

Little Junior Pollock did a hilarious dance in the end of the show played by Lilian Grant. A. J. Macdonald also sang two songs.

Prepaying Still Well
Ahead of Record Year

Tax prepayments in the city continued to forge ahead both in total collections and in the number of people meeting their 1935 levy in advance, a check in the city collector's department revealed to-day.

Actual prepayments up to late yesterday amounted to $315,545 against $274,185 for the corresponding period last year. In 1933, the record year, collections up to February 15 were only $308,945.

Advance payments, either in whole or in part this year, have been made by 1,220 people against 1,261 last year.

As the result of their prepayments, those who have met the levy in advance enjoy a 5 per cent per annum interest allowance on the debt of the city to the beginning of October. No interest will be allowed, however, on payments made after the opening of September, since taxes regularly fall due on that date.

Policeman Too
Fast For BoySergt. H. C. F. Reston Tells How He Caught Youth,
Who Pleads Guilty

John Mo, 231 Robertson Street, charged with unlawful possession of goods valued specifically at more than $1,000, appeared before Magistrate Jay this morning in the city police court. Previously, in the Oak Bay court the son, who is a juvenile, pleaded guilty to breaking and entering seven Oak Bay residences and removing a wide variety of furnishings. He also pleaded guilty to an eighth charge, laid in the city juvenile court, that of retaining in his possession four dial telephones, valued at more than $100.

In the case against the father, the son was the chief witness this morning. He was on the stand for about three-quarters of an hour. The case was adjourned at 1 o'clock, until 3 o'clock to-morrow when it is expected it will be completed.

Frank Higgins, K.C., is appearing for the defense. A plea of not guilty was entered by the father.

ADMITS ROBBERY
In the Oak Bay court the boy admitted robbing the following homes: Frank Baker, 2289 Street; E. O. Fenne, 230 St. Patrick Street; E. M. Hurry, 608 St. Patrick Street; John De Bold, 1700 Frederick Street; Frank, 2425 Huron Street; Sam Enke, 372 Island Road, and Albert G. Millbank, 407 Newport Avenue.

Bergant H. C. F. Reston of the Oak Bay police testified he had seen the boy last Sunday night at the corner of Oak Bay and Monterey Avenues. He was waiting for a city-bound car. It was understood that the boy came over his arm, apparently concealing something, the sergeant said. When the sergeant saw the sergeant looking at him, he started to walk down Monterey Avenue, witness continued, whereupon witness had started after him and stopped him. On being asked what he was carrying the sergeant said it was a radio he had received from his aunt at 603 Dalhousie Street, witness continued.

TRIED TO ESCAPE

The sergeant told him there was no such number on Dalhousie Street and had started to take him to police headquarters. As witness was looking out the door of the municipal police station the accused "made a break for it and headed north on Hampshire Road," the sergeant testified.

He threw the radio to the sidewalk about fifteen feet from the police station and I chased him about 250 yards before I caught him," the sergeant testified.

The only defense called in the hearing of the eighth charge against the boy, that of having possession of four stolen telephones, was a character witness, Henry H. Henry, of Fairfield United Church.

Dr. Henry testified he had known the family twenty-four years. The boy had a brilliant high school record and was a member of the Y.M.C.A. He explained his actions in the case.

William Paulding, employee of the B.C. Telephone Company, identified the telephones and gave their values. They were the initial difficulties. The Russians, when they started, admitted they were the most illiterate and most backward people in the world, but they've made wonderful advances since then.

Mr. Uphill said he expected to discuss his trip when he speaks in the House on Friday.

J. Harry Smith, director of the C.P.R. publicity bureau, Montreal, is visiting Victoria to-day.

LABOR M.P.P.
LIKES RUSSIAThomas Uphill, Fernie, Gives
His Views on Working of Soviet System

Thomas Uphill, labor member for Fernie, got back from Russia just in time to be present at the opening of the Legislature yesterday.

Mr. Uphill was one of four labor members who went to the province as special guests of the Soviet but he travelled alone.

They told me in London that I would only see what the Soviet was like to see. But anybody who knows me knows that I would go where I could find out the real facts," he said.

Mr. Uphill was impressed, he said, with the way things are done in the Soviet Republic.

"What the B.C. Legislature should do," Mr. Uphill said, "is to have a wide circle of representatives from all the members go there on tour. When they return they will make this province a heaven on earth for next Christmas."

The law enforcement and lack of crime was a striking thing, he said. He felt safer in the byways of Moscow at 3 o'clock in the morning than he would in Cardiff, Bristol, London or Vancouver.

The immense parade of tribute to Sergei Kirov who was assassinated was witnessed by Mr. Uphill.

"It was stated there were 2,000,000 people," he said. "I would say it was closer to 4,000,000 and there were more hands than there are people in British Columbia. It was a wonderful sight. The way they were handled was inspiring."

The thing that impressed me most," Mr. Uphill said, "was the difference between this country and Russia. I do not claim that the Soviet have every luxury the heart desires. That would be foolish. The workers haven't got automobiles, even bicycles are a luxury. But the reason for this is that the country has not reached the state of productivity to provide them. In this country we have the opposite, which has too much but the people can't get at it. WILL LEAD WORLD.

I am convinced that eventually Russia will lead the world. Their labor system induces an enormous output. Contrary to what I heard they operate on a piece-work basis. Where possible they are paid on an individual basis, but in many cases piece-work is not possible. Work is done by the amount of work they turn out with bonuses for surpassing their 'norm' or normal output.

Jails, he said, are being emptied and used for other purposes. The judicial system is one of the fairest in the world. Every accused has a full chance. Counsel is provided for if necessary. And the main idea is correction rather than punishment. In the case of theft, for instance, a man is permitted to pay back the amount stolen, rather than go to jail.

Coming from Fernie, Mr. Uphill found the coal mines intensely interesting. They work like slaves to fulfill their contracts, but they are not fatigued because they feel that everything they produce benefits themselves.

Every factory has a club in connection with it. Some have farms to provide fresher vegetables and meat for their workers. Wage systems, he said, were much the same as in Canada, except that by turning out more work a man could earn more. There had been trouble on this account, because in some cases ordinary laborers earned more than foremen, and the foremen asked to be returned to their benches. This was settled by giving foremen 25 per cent more than the average pay.

Other things that impressed me were the way the street cars were all full. The theatres were packed for every performance and the performances were wonderful," said Mr. Uphill.

Standard of living was not so high as in Canada. The food was rougher and plainer, but there was plenty of it.

COMMUNISM FOR CANADA
"Sure we could put the system into effect here," he said in reply to a question. "We would do it better than Russia, too, because we have such a standard here that we would not face the initial difficulties. The Russians, when they started, admitted they were the most illiterate and most backward people in the world, but they've made wonderful advances since then."

Mr. Uphill said he expected to discuss his trip when he speaks in the House on Friday.

Dean Quainton
Begins SeriesFirst Lecture of Seven on Christian Social Reform
Delivered Yesterday

Historic examples of the Social Effects of Christianity" was the subject of an instructive address delivered yesterday evening in the Memorial Hall by Dean Quainton. The lecture was the first of a series of seven which will cover the general subject of "Modern Christian Social Reform." Dean Quainton traced the course of Christianity through three main periods: the ancient, the medieval and the modern.

Communism existed among the early Christians, and he said, but differed from the modern Communism of Russia by being voluntary. In the Soviet Union to-day Communism means the enforcement of communal life on the people by the inflexible will of the state.

Detachment towards wealth had been one of the characteristics of the early Christians. They had practiced a real form of philanthropy centuries before any political body or state.

SCHOOL REFORMS
Equality of the sexes had been brought about by the early Christians at the same time as philanthropy. For example, they had been out of virtual slavery and given its proper recognition. They had also changed the position of children by removing the threat of exposure to death as practiced by the Romans.

Dean Quainton contrasted the conditions under which children lived in the Roman Empire and to-day. The present age, he said, might well be termed that of the children. The social advancement of civilization down the ages brought about by Christianity was traced step by step by the speaker.

Hospitals had been first instituted by the church. The schools had been largely organized by the Christian church. It might well be said, Dean Quainton stated, that many of the social reforms to the fore to-day were directly attributable to the work of the church. The church had continually educated the people to the need and also the means of obtaining social reform.

With frequent quotations from books on the subject, Dean Quainton contrasted the attitudes taken by the church and by the state. In almost all cases, great reforms had had their origin in the church. The church had brought into effect by the direct influence of Christian leaders, often in opposition to the designs of the state.

Swimmers Make Plans For B.C. Title Meet In Vancouver

THE SPORTS MIRROR

THE RANGERS have been riding high since New Year's night. The club got off to such a miserable start that Col. John Hammond, its president who also is head man at Madison Square Garden, offered large sums for Harvey (Busher) Jackson of the Toronto Maple Leafs, and others. It appeared that the veteran New York array was cracking up at last. But the Rangers turned over a new leaf with the start of the new year. They launched a winning streak that has made them the talk of the National Hockey League. They practically are assured of a place in the playoffs for the Stanley Cup, where they are old familiar figures.

And the impact of the cyclonic attack that brought three victories and three ties since the folks celebrated New Year's Eve is supplied by three rejuvenated greyhounds, Frank Boucher and Bill and Dun Cook. At the start of the race, grey-thatched Lester Patrick signed up a flock of youngsters in the hope that young blood would instill into his aging team a lot of get up and go. Among these kids were Bert Connelly, Charlie Mason, and Lynn Patrick, son of the manager.

And while the spallpoens are playing good hockey, the Boucher-Cook-Cook unit that's furnishing the spirit. These three have been with the Rangers since the team was formed in 1926. Together they boast a record of a total of more than 1,000 points, more than any three men working together ever chalked up. Dun Cook is the youngest, thirty-one. Boucher is thirty-two, and Bill Cook, thirty-six.

Boucher, called the glistering game's foremost gentleman. Six times he has won the Lady Byng Trophy, emblematic of clean play. Penalty timekeepers are so seldom that it is but to be intruded on the rare occasions when the famous centre reposes in the penalty box. With all his clean play, Boucher is an aggressive player. He is the brains behind the manoeuvres which place the puck in scoring position. The former Northwest Mounted policeman, who keeps "keep a level head at all times," can wield his fists with the same precision as he does a hockey stick, and few pucksters go out of their way to tangle with him.

Bill Cook probably is the most colorful of the trio. Generally referred to as the "right wing" in hockey, he has been checked around that has seen him in more than one battle. His greatest conflict came during the playoffs when he served twenty-four months at the Vimy Ridge, the Somme, Flanders and Hill 70, and as part of the deal assigned to Russia, fought three months against the Bolsheviks after the armistice was signed. There in the frozen tundras in the neighborhood of Archangel, news of the cessation of hostilities was slow in arriving, and Bill was battling on snow shoes in sub-zero temperatures when some of his old buddies were eating Christmas dinner in Canada.

After the war, Bill Cook farmed in Saskatchewan, but it wasn't long before he began to look westward at the hockey rink and stick he had discarded for an artilleryman's uniform. And in 1922 he again was back in the game, playing with the Saskatoon Blades. The Blades were in 1926, and he's been there ever since. He led the National League in scoring in the 1926-27 season, with thirty-seven points, and again in 1927-28, with fifty points.

Bun Cook is Bill's younger brother. He is the least publicized of the trio, but is an instrumental in the success of the Rangers as Boucher or Bill. He plays left wing, and teamed up with Boucher and his brother, acts like a blocking back in a football game and with his little recognition on all-America teams Bun is just as important to the trio as Boucher or Boucher. Each is dependent on the other for the perfect team play they display—and that's what enables the Rangers to ride so rough and what has enabled them to ride for such a great distance.

Gus Bahr, first sacker, Rip Collins, initial bag guardian of the St. Louis Cardinals, and Bill Terry, first baseman, and Bill Terry, first baseman, did not start a game on the 1934 schedule of their team. . . . Lou Gehrig, of the New York Yankees, was another first baseman who finished out the season without missing a game. . . . Horse racing is said to have drawn quite a few cash customers from the cage of the Boston Braves and Red Sox since it was legalized in New England. . . . You can look for more tall pitching from the Yankees' young pitcher John Murphy this year. . . . The Chicago Cubs list twenty-one executives on its board of officials. . . . No wonder the club has dropped $400,000 in the last several years. . . . That $400,000 it takes to install night equipment for baseball plays is going to cause a lot of National League teams to steer clear of the experiment this year.

Redshirts Retain Second Half Lead in School Basketball Play

Cardinals still hold their lead in Victoria High School Peden Cup hoop play after a close shave at the hands of the Nuggets, whom they downed yesterday by a score of 13 to 11, in the second game of the second half schedule. Minus the services of Roy Taylor, rangy Cardinal centre, and D. Taylor, another of the Cards' star front-rank men, they swept into the lead after an opening tally by Frank Speed, and came out on top at half time by five points, 10 to 5. Although the Nuggets were a little off their game in the first period, many shots just skimming off of the basket, the on-lookers had one thrill when Maury Edge sank a beautiful one-handed shot from away out in the court, adding two points for the yellow shirt.

Big Representation Expected To Go to Terminal City in Quest of Laurels

Gala Forerunner To Contests Here
Swimming gave its first post-hibernation stretch today as clubs of the city brought their attention to bear on the British Columbia championship gala billed for Vancouver a week from Saturday, and considered possible representatives for the Capital City in the events.

The meet will be the first of two title galas, the second of which is billed here on March 9. While definite selection of Victoria performers was left in abeyance for a try-out meet, possibly next week, coaches advanced the names of several mermen and mermaids who might go across the Gulf for the contests.

A fairly strong contingent was expected from Ernie Peden's Pacific Club. Among the favorites from that group are such stars as Molly Wallis, fast coming junior who has been winning the majority of open events here in recent races. She will probably go over to compete as a junior in the Terminal City gala. If she can also rise junior ranking she may also take a crack at the higher class.

PACIFIC HOPEFULS
Ernie Peden, general all-rounder of the club, was also figured a possible entry, as was Ben Honor, fast young freestyle exponent. Lillian Stokes, backstroke, freestyle and breast stroke performer, is also being considered, while Don Davidson, lanky young backstroke ace of the city is almost a certainty to make the trip. Ernie Peden may go over as competition manager of that club's representation.

There is also a possibility Audrey and George Adams, former Y.M.C.A. juniors now going to school in Vancouver, may swim for their old club in junior events in the title meet.

V.A.S.C. PROSPECTS
From Colin McPeden's Victoria Amateur Swimming Club may go several outstanding girls. Monica Trump, who competed last year in the British Empire Games breaststroke, tryouts and finished in the money without making the team, will probably head the list. Tronon Squires is also figured a good possibility for the squad in breaststroke, whose Dorothy Johnson, backstroke performer, Dorcas Dale-Johnson and Rae Saunders, freestyle artists, Bobby Moore, clever and husky freestyle swimmer who, while only thirteen years old, has a mark of twenty-nine seconds for the 100-yard race, and as good prospects for the contingent.

Lloyd "Peanut" Matthews and Bobby Mathewson, two other lads of some calibre, and the Monterey girls' relay team, a junior aggregate, may also fly the V.A.S.C. colors at the meet. McPeden reports other relay teams ready for action if given the call. Among the divers, Phil Bond will probably be the only local contender. He is reported to be working out consistently and with a few dives of higher tariff should make a fair good experience.

Whether they win or lose, the Victorians would gain a wealth of experience from the meet. They would have a great chance of determining the standard of local competition in face of such national stars as Bobby Hooper, Empire Games performer, and Phyllis Dewar, Moose Jaw's Empire champion now residing in Vancouver.

Vancouver will stage championship events in the men's 220-yard freestyle, 440-yard freestyle, 100-yard breaststroke, 150-yard backstroke, and 150-yard medley relay. Women's events will include the 220-yard freestyle, 440-yard freestyle, 100-yard backstroke, 100-yard breaststroke, three-meter diving, and 150-yard medley relay. The junior boys' championships to be held in the 100 and 200-yard freestyle, 100-yard breaststroke, 100-yard backstroke, and 200-yard relay junior girls will compete in a similar list of events.

Special races will be held for senior men and women over 100 yards for the Bennett trophies, awarded for the swimmer setting a new record.

No-account Sissies Is Dog Fancier's Claim of Many Present-day Breeds

Fan at Westminster Kennel Show in New York Declares Many Animals Are Just Good-for-nothing Strutters; Wave of Cooing Heard From Toy Section at Big Exhibit

By SAM ROBERTSON
New York, Feb. 12.—Without an answer to-day was a question debated with warmth by two fans at the Westminster kennel show: "Are dogs going to the dogs?"

The power arose between two dogs draped over the show-ring rail at Madison Square Garden yesterday while a dozen fond handlers were parading as many silky coated coddles before gilded-eyed judges.

"Those narrow-skulled creatures," said debater No. 1, in a tone of seriousness befitting a hall of high justice, "are no-account sissies. The sissy dog has no backbone. He has no head. He has no room to learn the proper herding of sheep."

"Fish and pooh," smirked debater No. 2. Show dogs of to-day are as keen and mentally alert as their forefathers of the field. Handlers know they must be developed to the task for which they were intended to keep their good-for-nothing strutters. In the mental police, it shows in the bright eyes that count so much with the judges.

"And so it goes, No. 1 maintaining that Rover and Fido are nowadays good-for-nothing strutters, and No. 2 comforting himself with many a "fish and pooh."

WIND DAMAGES RACING PLANT

Will Take $5,000 to Repair Grandstand Roof at Santa Anita Track

Los Angeles, Feb. 12.—It was an ill-wind that swept across Santa Anita race track here yesterday, damaging the grandstand roof to the extent of $5,000, but it blew Forced Landing home in front in the San Gabriel $1,500 Handicap by three lengths to enrich the C. V. Whitney offer by $2,025.

The two-year-old son of Upset out of Transit, literally flew home before the wind to take the three-furlong baby race in 34 3/4 seconds. Sudden Change was second with Southern Wind third, by a head.

Bamboula, a newcomer at the track, staged a stirring surprise when the two-year-old chestnut mare, owned by Mrs. A. A. Baroni, closed fast to nose out March Stepp, odds-on favorite in the fifth at six furlongs. The time was 1:10 4/5.

Results follow:
First race—$1,500: San Gabriel, two-year-old, three furlongs, 34 3/4 seconds; Sudden Change (Mdn), 34 3/4 seconds; Southern Wind (Mdn), 35 1/4 seconds.

Rampaging Rangers In First Position

Lester Patrick's Club Smothers St. Louis 5 to 1 to Tie Boston and Chicago For Section Lead in Major Hockey; Boston and Maroons Victors

By A. E. FULFORD
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)
When play-off time rolls near and the going gets tougher than ever it is usually the old-timers who rise to the hockey heights with performances that highlight the race to the money series.

It was that way yesterday evening, when veterans of the game flashed brilliant form to stand out in a hockey evening that saw punch-packed National League battles at Boston, Montreal and St. Louis.

Shining bits of individual work, goals galore, and the climax of New York Rangers' rocketing comeback were crowded into the first game. Eddie Shore was the Eddie Shore of old at Boston, as he inspired Bruins to come from behind four times and whip Toronto Leafs 4 to 3 in overtime. He was missed up in four of their goals.

MOORE SMITH STAR
At Montreal Moore Smith fired two shots past Lorne Chabot to aid Maroons to a 3 to 0 win from Chicago Black Hawks, and then played a capable game at defence in the third period after Lionel Conacher had been hurt.

Shooting him in the Maroon nets was Alex Connell, the pallid Ottawa man everyone thought was through when he gave way to Bill Beveridge in the second period.

The cipher that stood to Chicago's account marked his seventh shutout since Tommy Gorman induced him to return to the game after a season's layoff. That gave him league leadership, and he also had fewer goals scored on him than any other netminder.

Cecil Dillon, an experienced player, but not in the veteran class, alone in Rangers' 5 to 1 victory over Eagles at St. Louis, scoring three of the New York goals. The results brought Rangers and Boston into a tie for American division leadership with Chicago, and marked the climax of a Ranger rush that has brought them from the bottom to the top of the league standing in sixteen days.

CHANGE CUP TENNIS PLAY

Qualifying Rounds in Davis Cup Series Will Be Run Off Every Year

London, Feb. 12.—Free-year qualifying, rounds in the international Davis Cup tennis competition were abolished yesterday and instead, beginning in 1936, all competition—preliminary and otherwise—will be played from year to year.

The committee made the announcement after conducting a correspondence ballot which was supported by twenty competing nations and voted against by seven others. The change means that the system of holding eliminations a year in advance will be voided after this year and the competition restored to its original basis of several years ago.

PORTLAND IS SECOND AGAIN

Defeat Calgary 4 to 0 to Again Hurl Vancouver in Northwest Hockey

Portland, Feb. 12.—It was Portland's turn to-day to rate the Vancouver Lions in their "enny, minny, me" battle for second place in Northwestern Hockey League standings. Yesterday evening the Buckaroos cleaned house on the cellar Calgary club to the tune of 4 to 0 and thereby went into the second spot, a point ahead of the Lions.

Ever since the Bums came back from a prairie road trip, and a week's sojourn in the Canadian Rockies where they were snowbound, the Lions and Bums have been vying for second place. It has been first one club and then the other that has held the coveted spot below the league-leading Seattle Seahawks. And it does not look as if the Lions could be bettered until the Bums and the Lions meet again next week.

ABOARD STAR
It took a veteran to give some of the youngsters a lesson in hockey. Jack Armour, the greying defenceman of the Bums, picked up three points for his scoring column with two goals and an assist as the Bums counted three goals in the middle period and another in the third.
